

Shrinking Biodiversity

Global wildlife has declined 69 percent since 1970.

This includes drops in populations of mammals,
birds, fish, reptiles,
and amphibians.

